

My Investigative Question:

How does _____ effect the quality of water bodies?

I. What is _____?

Describe the issue IN WORDS in this box.
DO NOT talk about the impact it has on living things. Just talk about basic background information. It is about how your issue WORKS. You may want to talk about how a “normal” environment looks like, and how your issue interrupts it.

Draw a diagram of your issue here. Label all sections. You can refer back to your writing to make connections.

II. What are some examples of _____?

Cite specific cases of your issue (date of occurrence, location, description of what happened). List at least evidences.

II. What are the impacts of _____ ...

... on wild life (animals and plants) List at least 3 specific examples. Describe the impacts.

... on human livelihood? Describe specific impacts.

III. How is _____ a problem that can potentially become a positive feedback event?

IN WORDS, describe how your issue can become a domino effect of further problems for the environment and beyond.

In this box, create a diagram version of your words, using labels.

IV. What are some of the solutions to _____?

Describe the solution	An alternative point of view to this solution (this idea is great but..... or ... this idea is great only if...)

V. Vocabulary to enhance my research

List new vocabulary and their definitions (in your own words) that you found that you think is important to your issue. You should have at least 3 new terms.

VI. My References – list them accordingly in the blank space below. Use the format provided. Remember, you must come up with at least 2 more resources OTHER than the ones that Ms. Chien provided on her website.
